

APPLIED RESEARCH INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCES (ARICON)

NEWSLETTER

SPRING II, MARCH/ APRIL 2019

Applied Research international conference on Millennial Technology Challenges (ARICMTC) ISTANBUL 2019 conducted on 28th-29th March 2019 at Istanbul Aydin University, Istanbul, Turkey

Prof. Dr. Osman Adiguzel from Firat University, Department of Physics, Elazig, Turkey, chaired the conference while Prof. Dr. Nam Mahmoud Musleh AJLOUNI was the co-chairperson and also the head of the Organizing Committee. Dr. Ajlouni is the senior Professor in Computer Sciences Department at Aydin University, Istanbul with vast experience in Drones and Robotics.

Dr Mile Vasić- Ambassador | Rector | Vice-Rector | Dean of Faculty of Economics | HRM | University Professor & CEO-European Professional Certification Agency also attended the congress as the GUEST OF HONOR. The conference was moderated quite well by Dr. Alaa Ali Hameed (Faculty Member, Aydin university, Istanbul) and Ms. Rahema Nadeem (Research scholar- University of Huddersfield, U.K). Delegates from Algeria, Turkey, United States, India and United Arab Emirates presented their research on Millennial Technological Challenges.

Participants also relished the Post-Conference excursion to the stunning destinations of Ottoman times in Istanbul.

Prof. Dr. Osman Adiguzel

Firat University, Department of Physics, Elazig, Turkey.

Prof. Dr. Naim Mahmood Musleh AJLOUNI

Professor in Computer Sciences Aydin University, Istanbul

Dr Mile Vasić

Ambassador | CEO | Rector | Vice-Rector | Dean of Faculty of Economics | HRM | University Professor

Rahema Nadeem

Researcher at University of Huddersfield, United Kingdom

Alessia Contu

Chair of the Department of Management, College of Management, University of Massachusetts Boston

Alaa Ah HAMEED

Faculty Member, Aydin university, Istanbul

Dr. Adem Özyavaş

Assistant Prof. Engineering Faculty Computer Engineering Department

Dr. Kaveh Dehghanian

Assistant Prof. Engineering Faculty Civil Engineering Department

Dr. Saed Moghimi

Assistant Prof. Engineering Faculty Civil Engineering Department

Applied Research International Conference on Multidisciplinary Studies and Education (ARICME) 2019 Baku, Azerbaijan conducted on 1st-2nd April 2019 at London Meeting Room, Holiday Inn Baku, Azerbaijan.

Prof. Dr. Nazim M. Nasrullayev honored ARICON with all his kind support and chaired the conference. Professor Nasrullayev is the senior faculty member at Baku State University. KEYNOTE SPEAKER Professor. Ilona Swiatek Barylska from Department of Management, Faculty of Management, University of Lodz, Poland, presented the keynote speech. The sessions were moderated by Dr. Maria H. Nadeem, Director International Communications- ARICON (PhD- Professional Development, University of Leicester, U.K).

Delegates from Azerbaijan, Turkey, Romania, Poland, U.K, U.S, Kuwait, Pakistan, Qatar and Lebanon presented their papers. Later, the cohort joined the gorgeous Baku-city Tour. Baku is the largest cultural center of Azerbaijan, having 30 museums, 7 theatres, 11 institutions of higher education, philharmonic, opera theatre, film studio, cinema theaters and libraries housed in the city's most beautiful buildings having an interior decoration which is every bit as good as their interior cultural content.

Nazim M. Nasrullayev

Professor, Doctor of Science, Baku State University Member of American Chemical Society, USA. Chairman of Azerbaijan Section of Euro Science.

Ilona Swiatek Barylska

Associate Professor Department of Management, Faculty of Management, University of Lodz, Poland

Applied Research International Conference on Business and Management (ARICBM) 2019 Boston
15th - 16th August 2019

CALL FOR PAPERS

Deadline for Abstract Submission : 31st May 2019
Conference Venue: Harvard University, Boston USA

Please send your abstracts on:
ARICONFERENCES@GMAIL.COM
 or submit on our website Conference Page

WWW.ARINTCONFERENCES.COM ARICON_INT

KNOWLEDGE ANGLE

Why do academics go to conferences? What are the benefits for your research and your career? Miguel Otero-Iglesias explains...

At an early stage in everyone's PhD process they will ask themselves the question: shall I attend an academic conference? Immediately other questions come to mind. Do I have anything worthy to be presented? Can I just present my literature review or theoretical framework, or should I wait until I have my first results from my case studies? Perhaps it is better to go first to several workshops and graduate students conferences, get experience in presenting in front of my peers, and then make the jump to a senior academic conference?

These doubts are absolutely normal, and we all went through those, but in my experience the earlier one goes to senior academic conferences, the better. You learn and gain so much in these events that you should not postpone it to the later stages of your PhD. Of course, it is important to have something presentable. Do not go if you are not clear in your mind. But if you only have a literature review, a theoretical framework and some hypotheses, that's fine. Write an abstract and try your chances. Writing abstracts that catch the eye of the conference selection team is a skill. Start training as soon as possible.

Another skill that is important to have and that helps you to get to know other scholars and to be known in academic circles is to convene prearranged panels for the big academic conferences. Do not hesitate to write to the big names in your field proposing a panel. You will find that most of them will answer (which is already a win because they will get to know your name), and some of them might even say 'yes' to your invitation. If you get your panel or abstract accepted, prepare your presentation well in advance so that you can use the time at the conference to go to other panels and network. This is very important. Do not waste your time in your room.

By attending other presentations, you will learn from others and improve your own skills and knowledge about your field. It is also important to engage with their work, ask questions and perhaps go and see them after the panel. Like in any other profession, networking is very important in our field. This is the way to be invited to join collective research projects such as edited books, special issues in peer-reviewed journals or funding applications.

Networking is also fundamental to getting a job in academia. In most countries, the job selection process is transparent and meritocratic, but remember that ultimately, with a similar CV, selection committee members will most likely hire someone they know and that they get along with. Although, academic work is mostly individual, there is a social side to it.

For all these reasons, overcome your fears and doubts and dare to attend academic conferences at an early stage of your PhD and continue to do so at least once a year. The benefits are definitely bigger than the costs if you know how to get the most out of every conference.

<https://www.uaces.org/resources/the-great-benefits-of-attending-academic-conferences>

(The Academic Association For Contemporary European Studies)

Applied Research International Conference on Politics, Economics, Society & Technology
(ARICPEST) 8th-9th July 2019

CALL FOR PAPERS

Deadline for Abstract Submission : 30th April 2019

Conference Venue: King's College, London, UK

Please send your abstracts on:

ARICONFERENCES@GMAIL.COM

or submit on our website Conference Page

Applied Research International Conference on Social Science&Humanities (ARICSSH)
15th – 16th July 2019

CALL FOR PAPERS

Deadline for Abstract Submission : 30th April 2019

Conference Venue: University of Cambridge, UK

Please send your abstracts on:

ARICONFERENCES@GMAIL.COM

or submit on our website Conference Page

Applied Research International Conference on World Economic & Social Review (ARICWESR)
28th – 29th June 2019

CALL FOR PAPERS

Deadline for Abstract Submission : 30th April 2019

Conference Venue: University of Oxford, UK

Please send your abstracts on:

ARICONFERENCES@GMAIL.COM

or submit on our website Conference Page

@ARICON_INT

+44 7988700024

+61 393865251

67 SYDNEY ROAD, COBURG VIC 3058
MELBOURNE, AUSTRALIA.

ARICONFERENCES@GMAIL.COM